To the Reader

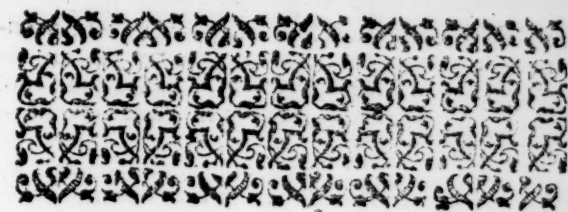

Eloned, My first Collection of these Monumentall Epitaphs I published Anno. 1614. full 19 yeeres since: And unto this second Edition are diuers Additions of Monuments and Epitaphs erected since that time, besides, of some omitted in the former. And now, his Maiesties gracious Commission about the Decayes and for the repaying of this famous Church, is on foot, and in agitation (a Worke, certes, requiring Royall helpe, and beseeming the Maiestie of so mighty a Monarch:) I haue thought good to publish this as completely as I could, lest in repairing the same, some Adornments of the dead might be defaced, if not quite rased; but preserved hereby to Memory and Posteritie. I am not ignorant that Mr. A. M. the Continuer of Master Stows Suruey of London printed Ann. 1618. (and now as I heare againe on the Presse) hath inserted most of the Epitaphs and Inscriptions of this Church (like as he hath done of all other London Churches) in taking whereof my little booke saved him a little labour, which he heretofore hath ingenuously acknowledged &c. I am not ignorant also that Mr. Iohn Weeuer his laborious collected volume of Funerall Monuments is lately published: wherein I see and haply you may find many and most of my collected Epitaphs, done, doubtlesse, by his owne industry: But considering the Premisses, viz: that most of mine were published nineteene yeeres agoe, I hope both the Readers thereof and all other, unto whose hands this my collected Pamphlet shall happen to come, will hold me excused and vindicate me from robbing from him or ploughing with his Heifer, this small piece of Ground: Whose Collection also of Epitaphs in this Church, as in others, is onely of Auncient Monuments; mine, of all, moderne as well as auncient, unto this very yeere and day: And I was importuned to publish this my Collection the second time, I professe, before euer I looked on his Labour: But let me not be mistaken, I say this is not of all buried in St. Pauls (for many haue beene there buried without any remembrance or Epitaph) but of all that there is any Remembrance or Epitaph aboue ground remaining. And now we are speaking of Monuments; verily, memorable was the Monument that Mr. William Parker a worshipfull and deuout Citixen gaue, for the beautifying and new glazing the Windows in the North side of the Chancell. But more memorable and most worthy commemoration is the great cost that an honourable & deuout Knight hath lately bestowed in and about the Quire of this Cathedrall Church: in hanging the Quire and high Altar-place with rich Cloth of Tapistrie: & in beautifying and repairing the Quire and the Entrance into the same, erecting the Statues of * 6 Kings and * 3 Bishops, with Pillars & Pillasters of blacke Touch or Marble: which Kings and Bishops had beene builders and Benefactors to this Church. Nor, is it to be forgotten the late sumptuous new repairing and gilding of the Organes, done at the cost of the Church. Farewell, fundatio.

E hujus illustris Templi fundatione nonnihil quidem discrepant Scriptores: opinio tamen receptissima est. Primo ab Aethelberto Cantij Regulo, circiter annum redemptionis 610. conditum esse, qui illi possessiones dedit, ut apparet.

Aethelbertus Rex Deo inspirante, pro anima suae remedio, dedit Episcopo Melito terram que appellatur Tillingham ad Monasterium sui solatium, scilicet S. Pauli: Et ego Rex Aethelbertus ita firmiter concedo tibi Præsuli Melito potestatem eius habendi, & possidendi ut in perpetuum in Monasterij utilitate permaneat, &c.

Aethelstanus, Edgarus, Edwardus nomine Confessor, & alij possessiones illi dederunt.

Rex Guilielmus Victor siue Conquestor adi S. Pauli *Mauricio*que illo tempore Episcopo & successoribus ejus Stortford arcem, quæque ad eam per-pertinent, dedit. Munera etiam majorum suorum confirmavit.

Diploma Guilielmi Conquestoris huic S. Pauli Templo datum, memoriae proditum in Turre Londinensiconspiciendum est.

Anno 1087. hoc Templum flammis absumptum est, unaque cum illo maxima pars Civitatis. Ex quo Mauricius tunc Episcopus novae ædis fundamentum ponebat: opus quod nunquam perfectum iri putabant, eâ longitudinis & latitudinis in immensum productum est; idemque est fornicatis lapidibus (vt ab igne defendatur) ædificatum, quod artificium hujus generis populo prius incognitum est, à Gallis huc allatum, lapides vero à Cano in Normandia adducti sunt.

Hic Mauricius, anno 1107. mortem cum vita commutavit, Richardo Beaumes (non Beamor vt ait Stow) in Episcopatum illi succedentes, qui Templum illud mirifice exauxit, proprioque sumptu, omnes circa ipsum plateas & viculos (in quibus antea habitavit vulgus) vt in illis pij sanctique homines habitent, inque illorum beneficium nactus est.

Turris vel Pyramis hujus Templi anno 1222 condita est.

Novum (vt dicitur) S. Pauli opus, ad Orientem, & à fronte Chori (vel loci in quo canunt) anno 1251. perfectum est.

Henricus Lacy Comes Lincolnensis, Angliæ Custos &c. Et Rodulfus Balduck Episcopus London, magna in hanc ædem (circa annum 1310) beneficia contulerunt.

Anno 1444. Pyramis secundo, fulmine incensa est, & magno labore, breui tempore, æcto (vt quidem apparebat,) restituebatur: sed paulò post, prorupit rursus ignis, non sine magno cum lignei tum plumbei plumbei operis detrimento: sed anno 1461. refecta & renovata est.

Anno 1561. ista Pyramis iterum, cælitus fulmine
incensa est, tantaque vi & ardore flagravît, vt brevi tempore tota Pyramis vna cum tota Templi testu-dine, cum ex ligno tum ex plumbo, consumpta sit,
non sine magna lamentatione perpetuaque spectato-
rum (quorum aliqui ad huc animam ducunt) memoriâ. Peraçto hoc gravi infortunio, Serenissima Regina Elizabetha p. m. ad D. Prætorem Londinensẽm (ut quam celerimè reparetur,) literas misit, illaque
ipsa pro ingenua sua indole & liberalitate eveſti-gio 1000. Marcas aureas, & ex sylvis suis 1000.
lignorum vehes, ad expeditam ejus restaurationem
donabat.

Vt taceam quid de Templi longitudine, latitudi-neque, & Pyramidis altitudine (quæ ad hoc non pertinent) dici possit: Habet hoc Templum Gubernato-res, Episcopum, Decanum, Præcentorem, Cancellarium, Quæstorem, & quinque Archidiaconos; nimirum,
London, Midlessex, Essex, Colchester, & S. Albans;
habet Præbendarios triginta, & ad Chorum inire divina instruendum, Canonicos parvos (vulgo Peti-canons) duodecim, Vicarios chorales sex, Choristas decem, &c.

The

FOUNDATION
of SAINT PAULES
Church:

About the foundation of this famous Church writers do somewhat varie: but the most received opinion is, that it was first founded by Aethelbert King of Kent: about the yeere of Christ 610. who gaue thereto lands, as appeareth.

King Aethelbert, GOD inspiring him, for the peace of his soule, hath giuen to Bishop Mellitus certaine land called Tillingham, towards the maintenance of his Monastery of S. Paul: And I Aethelbert the King doe firmly graunt to thee Mellitus the Prelate, full power to haue and to hold it for the perpetuall profit of the said Monastery, &c.

Aethelstane, Edgare, Edward the Confessor and others gaue land therevnto.

William the Conquerour gaue to the Church of S. Paul, and to Mauricius then Bishop, and his successors, the Castle of Stortford with the appurtenances:

nances : Hee also confirmed the gifts of his Predecessours.

The Charter of William the Conquerour given to this Church of S. Paul is recorded and is to be seene in the Tower of London, and is thus Englished out of the Saxon William King greet William Bishop, and Godfry Portgrave, and all the Barrow of London French and English, friendly. And I make knowne unto you that yee be worthy to enioy all that Law and Priviledge which yee did in the dayes of King Edward. And I will that every child bee his fathers Heire after his fathers decease. And I will not suffer that any man do unto you any iniury. God you keepe.

In the yeere 1087 this Church was burnt with fire, and therewith the most part of the Citie: wherevpon Mauricius then Bishop, began the foundation of a new Church : a worke that men thought would neuer haue beene finished, it was to them so wonderfull for length and breadth, and also the same was builded vpon arched vaults of stone for defence against fire, which was a manner of worke till then vnkowne to the people of this Nation ; brought in by the French, and the stone from Cane in Normandie.

This Mauricius deceased in the yeere 1107. Richard Beames (not Beamor as Stow saith) succeeding him in the Bishopricke, who did wonderfully increase the said Church, purchasing at his owne cost all the streetes and lanes about it (wherein before did dwell many lay people) for religious men to dwell in, and for their benefit &c.

The Tower or Steeple of this Church was finished, ann. 1222.

The new worke of Pauls, so called, at the East end aboue the Quire, was finished, ann. 1251.

Henry Lucy Earle of Lincolne, Custos of England, &c. and Ralfe Baldock Bishop of London were great benefactors vnto this Church about the yeere 1310.

Anno

Anno. 1444. the Steeple was the second time fired by lightning, and by great labour the same was in short time, to appearance, quenched with vineger: but within a few houres the fire burst forth againe and did much hurt to the timber and leaden worke: but in the yeere 1462. it was repaired and amended.

Anno 1561. this Steeple was againe set on fire by lightning from Heauen, and it burned with such vehemency, that within a short space all the spire of the Steeple, with all the roofes of the Church both leaden-worke and timber-worke were consumed, to the great sorrow and perpetuall Remembrance of the beholders (some whereof are yet liuing.) After this great misfortune, Queene Elizabeth of blessed memory, directed letters to the Lord Major of London for the speedy repaying of the same, and She of her owne gracious disposition and bounty, did giue presently in gold 1000. markes, and a warrant for a 1000. loads of timber to be taken out of her woods, to further the reparation thereof, &c.

To omit what might be said concerning the height of the steeple, the length and bredth of the Church, as things impertinent; this Church hath for Gonemours a Bishop, a Deane, a Precentor, a Chauncellor, a Treasurer, and 5 Arch-deacons; to wit, of London, Middlesex, Essex, Colchester, and S. Albans; it hath Prebendaries 30. and to furnish the Quire in Divine seruice, Pety-canon 12. Vicars chorall 6. Queristers 10. &c.

In the South Ile of the vpper Worke.

Moreouer, at the vpper end of the South walke aboue stayres, it is worthy not to be forgotten, that within these fewe yeeres, (viz : Anno 1608) a stone being taken vp and a vault digged to interr the body of Sr. Richard Swale, there was found a Coffin hauing within it the Corps of one Sr. Gerard Braybroke, a famous Knight, who liued in the reignes of King Edward the third and King Richard the 2. and was there buried almost 250. yeeres sithence : which appeared not by any Monument, remayning above ground, but by the Popes Pardon to the said Sr. Gerard & his Lady, ingrossed in parchment and laid betwixt the wooden coffin and the Lead, vpon his brest : the true Copy of which Pardon I hauing procured, is here following presented vnto your view : and besides, there were found certaine herbes with the said Pardon, which reteined their perfect sent or odour, as is credibly reported by some that saw and smelt them : which is both strange and memorable.

The Pardon followeth in Latine according to the originall : which they say was shewento King James, who after he had seene it, they also say hee commanded it should bee put into the Coffin againe with the Corps of the Knight, who hee said, it was probable had paid deere enough for it.

Boniface the 9th. B: of Rome, seruant to the seruants of God: to the Noble Gentleman, our welbeloued sonne Gerard Braybroke the younger, within the Dioceſſe

our welbeloued daughter Elizabeth his Wife,

The loue of your deuotion, wherewith yee re-ſpectiueſly reuerence vs and the Roman Church hath ſo wrought that we doe vouchſafe graciously to heare your Petitions, thoſe eſpecially which concerne your ſoules health:
Hence it is that we being enclined to your ſupplications, doe giue permiſſion that the Cenſeſſour, whom eyther of yee ſhall thinke meete
to be choſen may be able by the tenor of theſe preſents, once onely in the very iſſue of life and death, to graunt vnto your deuotion by the Authority Apoſtolicall full Remiſſion of all your finnes: for the which yee haue in heart beene ſorry, and whereof ye ſhall haue
made

made Confession by word of mouth: Provided, that yee persist and abide in the sincerity of the Apostolicall fayth, and of the holy Roman Church, and in the obedience and deuotion of Vs, or the 'BB'. of Rome canonically entring, and succeeding Vs: yet so that for those sinnes, whereof in this life satisfaction is to bee made to others, your sayd Confessour do enioyne yee by your selues seuerally, if yee suruiue, or by your Heires, if then happely yee depart this life, to satisfie; which satisfaction, ye or they are bound to performe according to the premisses. And lest by reason of this Grace yee become more prone to commit unlawfull acts hereafter, which God forbid, our will is, if by chance vpon the confidence and hope of pardon yee commit the like, that as concerning those sinnes so committed the pardon aforesayd should in no wise helpe: Bee it therefore lawfull for no man whatsoeuer to infringe this writing contayning our Graunt and Pleasure, or boldly to countermaund it. But if any shall presume to attempt it, let him know that hee shall incurre the indignation of Almighty God, and of his blessed Apostles, S^t. Peter, and S. Paul;
